

Every day at Stock Options Channel, we scour our coverage universe of stock options with our YieldBoost formula, looking for those puts and calls with the highest premiums an option seller can receive with strikes that are out-of-the-money with high current odds of the contract expiring worthless. The results of these rankings are meant to express the top most "interesting" options identified by the formula, which are meant as a research tool for users to generate ideas that merit further research.

To make the DividendChannel S.A.F.E. list, a stock must display these qualities: S. Solid return – hefty yield and strong DividendRank characteristics; A. Accelerating amount – consistent dividend increases over time; F. Flawless history – never a missed or lowered dividend; E. Enduring – at least two decades of dividend payments.

To make the list of stocks with recent insider buying, some amount of stock must have been purchased by a company insider and filed via a Form 4 with the SEC within the past 180 days. To make the list of stocks with recent secondary offerings, the stock must have recently appeared on the Secondary Stock Offerings page of The Online Investor, while to make the list of stocks conducting buybacks the stock must have recently appeared on the Stock Buybacks page. To make the list of stocks with strong analyst ranking, a stock must have an above-average ABR (average broker rating).

The term REIT stands for Real Estate Investment Trust, a sector that is required to pay a dividend of 90% of its taxable income to shareholders and is therefore a sector that attracts income investors. The term mREIT indicates the REIT is classified as investing in mortgages on real estate properties as opposed to properties themselves. The term BDC stands for Business Development Company, a sector that also has a 90% taxable income payout requirement. The term MLP stands for Master Limited Partnership, a third income oriented sector that we have included.
